COURSE DESCRIPTION

MSW or Master of Social Work is a specialised course that aims at providing the aspirants with in-depth knowledge and understanding about the fabrics of society and the societal hierarchy. The course mainly focuses on field work and equips the candidates with relevant skills to help others in need. It is a social science course that is aimed at teaching students to utilize resources to eradicate the problems of society and try to alleviate their pain and problems through counseling, funds or different social methods. The course provides specialized knowledge about various subjects related to social works such as Labour Welfare, Human Resource Development & Management, Rural Reconstruction, Child Rights & Child Protection, Community Development, and much more. However, with only a 12.5% female workforce, there has been a gender gap in the field of social work in India.

CAREER OPPORTUNITIES

The career opportunities for graduates of MSW are quite high. All jobs in this field are related to social service or charity work. There are abundant jobs in government sectors, NGO, educational institutes, rural areas, and many international companies.
