COURSE DESCRIPTION

A three-year undergraduate programme called BBA Hospital Management examines the business expertise and knowledge required by the health management sector. It gives students the opportunity to pursue employment in the healthcare and pharmaceutical industries as well as higher education. Candidates for BBA Hospital Management admission must have received their 10+2 diploma from an accredited board. However, only a few universities might require a minimum cumulative GPA to admit students. Admission to the BBA Hospital Management programme is based on both the entrance exam and the grades received at the prior higher education. . Such a professional may earn an average income of between INR 3 LPA and INR 6 LPA. However, they can also go for higher studies and take admission into PhD Course in the same field.
