Course Description

Graphic designing is the use of visual content like typography, colour palette, illustrations and images to portray an idea. Graphic designing is not just for the aesthetic of the brand. Still, it majorly contributes to developing a sense of understanding between a brand, and its audience by communicating what the brand represents. From the cover of your favourite book to the wrapper of your favourite chocolate to the visual aesthetic of the website you're reading right now, ever wondered who creates all this. Since you're reading this content I assume you already know the answer and if not, let me tell you. A graphic designer is behind most of those around us.
